DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

Claims 1-25 are pending.

This is in response to the office action mailed on 08/05/08.

Newly submitted claims 1-9, 12-17 and new claims 18-19 are directed to an invention that is independent and distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons:

Invention of original claims 1-8, 16-17 and new claims 20-25 are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the method of use can be practiced with another materially different product such as the product shown in EP 0 339 671.

Since applicants have received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, previous claims 1-8 and 16-17 are considered as constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Since applicant has effectively cancelled the subject matter to be examined in this case, specifically the product and process for preparing same in lieu of claims drawn to multiple methods for administering a compound for diverse and divergent therapeutic methods, the following restriction requirement is advanced:

Group I Method for increasing platelets in a human.

Group II Method for treating thrombocytopenia.

Group III Method for treating arteriosclerosis.

Group VI Method for treating myocardial infarction.

Group V Method for treating unstable angina.

Group VI Method for treating peripheral artery occlusive disease.

Group VII Method for treating combinations of diseases of Groups III-VII

Claim 21 is generic to Group III-Group VII. It will be examined insofar as it relates to the elected invention, drawn to a distinct condition to be treated.

Each of these inventions contains a plurality of patentably distinct diseases.

Each disease listed above involves mechanisms recognized in the art as being distinct from each other because of their pathways. Additionally, the level of skill in the art is not such that one disease would be obvious over the other diseases, i.e. they are patentable over each other. Each of the different methods of treating disease state set forth above is unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). Methods of use are unrelated if one of three differences are found between them. These differences are 1) the population being treated, 2) the material being used, and 3) the methodology for treatment. If any one or more of these differences exist and are patentably distinct, then the methods are unrelated. In the instant case, the different methods of use inventions are unrelated because the patient population treated for each method is divergent. For example, a method of treating multiple myeloma presumes that the patients being treated have cancer, while a method of treating hepatitis presumes the patient has hepatitis.
